THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO
PHILOSOPHY DEPARTMENT

PHILOSOPHY 101: INTRODUCTION TO PHILOSOPHY

LECTURE 1: THE FOUNDATIONS OF PHILOSOPHY

The first lecture of the course, "The Foundations of Philosophy," introduces students to the central questions and methods of the discipline. It begins with a discussion of the nature of philosophy as a way of life and a way of thinking. The lecture then explores the historical roots of philosophy, from ancient Greece to the modern era. Key figures such as Plato, Aristotle, and Descartes are introduced, and their contributions to the development of Western thought are discussed. The lecture concludes with a reflection on the role of philosophy in contemporary society.

The second lecture, "The Foundations of Philosophy," continues the discussion of the historical roots of philosophy. It focuses on the work of the ancient Greek philosophers, particularly Plato and Aristotle. The lecture examines their theories of knowledge, ethics, and politics, and discusses their influence on the development of Western thought. It also introduces the concept of the "philosophical tradition" and the idea of a "philosophical canon."

The third lecture, "The Foundations of Philosophy," continues the discussion of the historical roots of philosophy. It focuses on the work of the medieval philosophers, particularly Thomas Aquinas and William of Ockham. The lecture examines their theories of knowledge, ethics, and politics, and discusses their influence on the development of Western thought. It also introduces the concept of the "philosophical tradition" and the idea of a "philosophical canon."

The fourth lecture, "The Foundations of Philosophy," continues the discussion of the historical roots of philosophy. It focuses on the work of the modern philosophers, particularly René Descartes and Immanuel Kant. The lecture examines their theories of knowledge, ethics, and politics, and discusses their influence on the development of Western thought. It also introduces the concept of the "philosophical tradition" and the idea of a "philosophical canon."

The fifth lecture, "The Foundations of Philosophy," continues the discussion of the historical roots of philosophy. It focuses on the work of the 19th-century philosophers, particularly Friedrich Hegel and Karl Marx. The lecture examines their theories of knowledge, ethics, and politics, and discusses their influence on the development of Western thought. It also introduces the concept of the "philosophical tradition" and the idea of a "philosophical canon."

The sixth lecture, "The Foundations of Philosophy," continues the discussion of the historical roots of philosophy. It focuses on the work of the 20th-century philosophers, particularly Ludwig Wittgenstein and Martin Heidegger. The lecture examines their theories of knowledge, ethics, and politics, and discusses their influence on the development of Western thought. It also introduces the concept of the "philosophical tradition" and the idea of a "philosophical canon."

1 clear the railroad tracks by approximately twenty feet and 2 was then brought to a stop (RT 552), at which time appellant 3 exited from the truck and stated that he had not been hurt
4 (RT 553, RT 38). He also refused an offer of first aid 5 treatment (RT 218).

6 After completing an accident report for the Naval 7 authorities, appellant returned to his place of business, 8 and then drove the truck which had been reloaded with cases 9 of liquor, to his home in Everett, Washington. Upon his 10 arrival in Everett, he visited his family physician who ad-11 ministered pain pills and muscle relaxors (RT 291).

12 Contrary to his doctor's advice (RT 292), appellant 13 returned to his employment as a truck driver the morning 14 following the collision and continued to work steadily for 15 approximately three months until he was fired (RT 89-90, 97 16 and 226) in October, 1963, for misleading his employer. His 17 duties included the lifting and moving of heavy objects 18 (CT 98) during this time period.

19 From October, 1963, until the date of trial, appellant 20 worked for a number of firms but terminated his employment 21 with each not because of physical disability but because of 22 personal reasons (RT 221-265). He did not miss any days of 23 work during this period for reasons of health. Appellant's 24 work record is as follows:

25 Everett Trucking Company, May through August, 1964 - quit to take a better job. (RT 227)

1 Sound Metal, August, 1964 - appellant quit (RT 228).

2 Morrison Logging - worked one week running a steam 3 shovel - quit for another job (RT228).

4 Provisioners - appellant quit because he didn't want 5 to go to Denver with a co-employee (RT 228).

6 Fishmans Transportation Co. - worked there for three 7 months in fall of 1964 - quit because employer 8 wouldn't pack the front wheels of the truck, and 9 because of personal disagreement with employer (RT 229).

10 Everett Trucking Company - appellant worked there again 11 from January, 1965, until May, 1965, when he quit, 12 evidently due to an incident in which he was involved 13 in Los Angeles during which he "beat up" three police 14 officers (TR 236).

15 Ross and Hogland - appellant worked there from June, 16 1965, until November 27, 1965, on which date he was 17 involved in another serious truck accident. That was 18 the last day on which he ever worked as a truck 19 driver (TR 236).

20 On November 27, 1965, appellant was driving a large 21 truck near Merced, California, when he was involved in another 22 accident. Appellant passed out at the wheel of the truck 23 either from lack of sleep or from loss of blood caused by 24 the extraction of his teeth four days prior to the accident.
25

1 He also had diabetes which could cause blacking out (TR 350).
2 The truck and trailer hit a guard rail, breaking the trailer
3 loose from the tractor and tipping it over. The entire cab 4 in which appellant was sitting was lifted up in the air and 5 went over forward, during which time appellant made several 6 circles inside the truck striking hard objects therein 7 (TR 239). Both the tractor and trailer were totally de-8 molished (TR 241-242) and appellant sustained several abra-9 sions, contusions, lacerations on his forehead and a severed 10 facial nerve (TR 240), among other injuries.

11 It also should be noted that appellant was involved in 12 other accidents prior to the one in 1963. He had previously 13 flown an airplane through a house (TR 209) and in 1959 was 14 involved in a rear-end collision (TR 210) which necessitated 15 him spending nine days in the hospital.

16 It should be further noted that appellant's complaint 17 was twice dismissed prior to trial for dilatory tactics. On 18 April 8, 1966, the complaint was dismissed with prejudice 19 because of appellant's failure to answer interrogatories 20 (CT 13), and was dismissed a second time on June 23, 1966, 21 for failure to prepare for trial (CT 51).

22 Appellant was limited to two medical expert witnesses 23 by court order dated November 1, 1966 (CT 165). Dr. Mullins 24 was eliminated as an appellant's witness (by deposition) 25 because his deposition was taken, over Government objection,

1 only two court days prior to trial. Dr. Burgess was elimin-
2 ated as a witness because his last examination of appellant 3 was in May, 1965, prior to the November, 1965, truck accident, 4 and Dr. Burgess had not re-examined appellant subsequent to 5 said accident.

6 ISSUES PRESENTED

7 1. a. Whether a district court has power to limit the 8 number of expert witnesses which a party may call.

9 b. Whether the district court properly eliminated 10 Dr. Burgees and Dr. Mullins as expert witnesses.

11 2. Whether the district court properly excluded the 12 results of a medical examination which was conducted on the 13 day of trial without notice to appellee.

14 3. Whether records of a State of Washington administra-15 tive agency showing payment of appellant's medical bills was 16 properly excluded when offered as the only evidence of the 17 amount and reasonableness of said medical bills.

18 4. Whether a trial court has discretion to determine 19 whether or not a witness qualifies as an expert.

20 5. Whether appellant's failure to prove that the 21 appellee's negligence on July 24, 1963, was the proximate 22 cause of his injuries, if any, at time of trial.

1 ARGUMENTS

2 GENERAL BACKGROUND

3 Commencing April, 1966, this case has been repeatedly 4 delayed by the dilatory tactics of appellant. Twice dismissed 5 with prejudice for failure to answer interrogatories, for with-6 holding information in interrogatories, and for non-prepara-7 tion of appellant's case, and then delaying several months 8 because one of appellant's doctors went to Europe, this case 9 has shown some considerable indulgence to appellant's delays.
10 Appellant has now asked the Appellate Court to reverse the 11 fairly given and lengthy trial on grounds that the trial court 12 refused to further indulge several procedurally defective 13 attempts of appellant to get non-admissible evidence before 14 the Court.

15 I.

16 THE COURT PROPERLY LIMITED THE 17 NUMBER OF MEDICAL EXPERTS.

18 Appellant's first contention of error is that the trial 19 court abused its discretion by limiting the number of appel-20 ant's expert witnessess from four to two medical doctors. This 21 limitation was allegedly made in open court on November 1, 1966 22 but the Court's and counsels' discussion of the issue is not 23 available inasmuch as a court reporter was not present.

24 The law is clear that the number of witnesses permitted 25 to testify to a single point is within the sound judicial discretion of the trial court, the purpose of limitation of 1 witnesses being to prevent cumulative evidence. Suhay v.

2 United States, 95 F2d 890 (10 Cir. 1938), cert. denied 304
3 US 580; Chapa v. United States, 261 Fed. 775 (5 Cir. 1919), 4 cert.den. 252 US 583; Burgman v. United States, 188 F2d 637
5 (D.C. Cir. 1950), cert. denied 72 S.Ct. 1964).

6 Rule 83 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure gives 7 each District Court the power to make and amend rules govern-8 ing its practices. Pursuant to said authority, Rule 28(d) of 9 the Rules for the United States District Court for the 10 Western District of Washington provides as follows:

11 "Except as otherwise ordered by the Court, a 12 party shall not be permitted to call more than one expert witness on any subject."

13 Being permitted to call two medical doctors, appellant was 14 accordingly entitled to call more expert witnesses than the 15 Rule permits. This is especially significant in view of the 16 fact thatthe appellee limited itself to one expert witness 17 on the subject of appellant's physical condition.

18 Of greater significance is appellant's allegation that 19 the court arbitrarily determined which of appellant's four 20 doctors could appear as witnesses. This ruling was allegedly 21 made at an unreported hearing on November 1, 1966. The fact 22 is thatthe Court eliminated Doctors Burgess and Mullins for 23 good reason, rather than arbitrarily picking at random which 24 of the four doctors could testify. The reasons for eliminat-25 ing Dr. Burgess and Dr. Mullins are as follows:

1           1. Dr. Burgess, an orthopedic surgeon, examined appell-2 ant on only two occasions, in 1964 and in May, 1965. He did 3 not examine plaintiff at any time after the November 27, 1965, 4 accident in California in which plaintiff sustained serious 5 injury. Accordingly, Dr. Burgess' testimony would have been 6 limited to appellant's condition prior to the November 27, 7 1965, accident. It should be noted that Dr. Burgess did have 8 an opportunity to examine appellant after the second accident, 9 inasmuch as the trial was delayed for several months so that 10 Dr. Burgess could go to Europe. He returned on October 10, 11 1966, but appellant did not arrange for any examination prior 12 to trial. Since Dr. Burgess' testimony would have been 13 limited to showing appellant's condition before the second 14 accident, his testimony would have been cumulative inasmuch 15 as Dr. Garner testified as to appellant's condition both 16 before and after the second accident, and Dr. Grossman 17 testified as to his condition subsequent to the second 18 accident. Dr. Burgess would have been unable on the basis 19 of his examination to segregate damages between the first and 20 second accidents as required by law.

21           2. Dr. Mullins: The defense had never heard of Dr.
22 Mullins until three court days prior to trial. At that time 23 (October 27, 1966) appellant orally moved the court for an 24 order allowing the taking of Dr. Mullins deposition on the 25 following day (October 28, 1966) in order to perpetuate his

1 testimony inasmuch as he would be out of town on date of 2 trial. This was insufficient notice in violation of Rule 30 3 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure which provide:

4 "(a) Notice of Examination: Time and Place.
5 A party desiring to take the deposition of any 6 person upon oral examination shall give reasonable notice in writing to every other party to the action. . . ."

7 Nevertheless, the court allowed the taking of the deposition, 8 but also allowed the appellee to renew its objections at time
9 of trial (CT 70). The unfairness to appellee of appellant's 10 last-minute tactics is best shown by the objection made by 11 defense counsel at the time deposition was taken.

12 "We oppose the taking of this deposition or its 13 subsequent use because . . . the one day's notice 14 to us that this deposition was going to be taken 15 was not sufficient under the Federal Rules of 16 Civil Procedure or any other rule, because it does 17 not give us sufficient time to adequately prepare 18 for cross-examination, to consult with other 19 medical specialists, and, of course, trial is only two court days away. It is, therefore, impossible for us to arrange medical examination, a subsequent medical examination of the plaintiff and if new issues, symptoms or injuries are raised by reason of this deposition, we are taken by surprise and no conceivable way that we can rebut or prepare a defense prior to trial. . . .

20 "Furthermore, there is no necessity for this 21 deposition to be taken inasmuch as this case having 22 been filed over a year ago and at issue nearly a 23 year, there have been four doctors in addition to 24 the treating physician that examined the plaintiff on behalf of plaintiff's counsel. . . And this makes the fifth doctor that has been called as potential medical expert witness by the plaintiff.
. . . "

1 "Additionally, inasmuch as the purpose of this 2 deposition is for the purpose of perpetuating 3 testimony for trial rather than discovery, this 4 amounts to the taking of evidence of a witness 5 with only one day's notice to the defense that 6 he was even going to be a witness in the case.
7 As such, this gives us no possible way to investigate 8 the background of this witness, his qualifications, 9 or to prepare any possible impeachment or discover 10 if any would be appropriate. The very purpose for which 11 pre-trial discovery in the Federal Rules are designed 12 is avoided if this deposition is used at the time 13 of trial." (Deposition of Dr. John R. Mullins, 14 pages 3 through 5).

15 One of the purposes of the discovery rules is the avoidance 16 of surprise. As stated in 38 Columbia Law Review 1436:

17 "The deposition-discovery device under the new 18 rules aid in preparation for the trial more fully 19 than any previous procedure. Such assistance is 20 of several types:

- 21 (1) Avoidance of surprise;
- 22 (2) Affording an intelligent basis for trial brief;
- 23 (3) The preservation of testimony likely to be needed."

24 Appellant's attempt to take Dr. Mullins' deposition two court 25 days prior to trial, on one day's notice to the defense, 26 certainly contravenes the purpose of the Federal Discovery 27 Rule, and the trial court therefore properly excluded Dr.
28 Mullins' testimony (by deposition).

29 In summary, the court on November 1, 1966, properly ex-30 cluded both Dr. Burgess and Dr. Mullins as witnesses for good 31 reasons, and did not arbitrarily decide which doctors could 32 testify, as alleged by appellant. Such a determination was 33 within the discretion of the trial court, and in recognition 34 of the rules.

1 II.

2 THE COURT PROPERLY EXCLUDED TESTIMONY OF A 3 MEDICAL EXAMINATION MADE ON THE DAY OF TRIAL.

4 Dr. Grossman, an internist, examined appellant in June, 5 1966. At that time he apparently did not take physical 6 measurements of appellant's leg. Dr. Grossman then conducted 7 another physical examination of appellant on the day of trial, 8 without notice to defense counsel (RT 129), and attempted to 9 introduce evidence relating to the medical findings made on 10 the day of trial. Defense counsel objected to the evidence 11 as follows:

12 "Mr. Barer: I would object to any statement or 13 questions or answers as to his examination con-14 ducted today. This examination today, if it 15 did occur, is after the pre-trial order, after the 16 time of discovery, there is no possible way we could 17 havediscovered this medical testimony today. I feel 18 this is outside the scope of the Federal Rules of 19 Civil Procedure and that it should not be allowed 20 into evidence in this courtroom."

21 "The Court: Did you give counsel notice that you 22 wish to have further exploration made today?"

23 "Mr. Caughlan: No, your Honor."

24 "The Court: The court will have to sustain the 25 objection and does so."

26 Crucial to this objection is Rule 26(d)(2) of the Rules for 27 the Federal District Court, Western District of Washington, 28 which read as follows:

29 "Unless otherwise ordered by the court, all parties 30 shall exhaust the discovery procedures provided for 31 in Rule 26 through 37, Federal Rules of Civil Pro-32 cedure, prior to the conference of attorneys."

1 The appellee was given no notice of Dr. Grossman's examination 2 on the day of trial in direct violation of the purpose of the 3 Federal Rules, and was given no opportunity to prepare 4 rebuttal testimony or even to make discovery, all in violation 5 of the Federal Rules and Procedural Due Process. All medical 6 information should have been exchanged at the time of the pre-7 trial order and appellant had no right to introduce without 8 notice new evidence resulting from a medical examination con-9 ducted on the day of trial.

10
11 III.

12 THE COURT PROPERLY EXCLUDED WASHINGTON STATE
13 DEPARTMENT OF LABOR AND INDUSTRY RECORDS
14 SHOWING PAYMENT OF PLAINTIFF'S MEDICAL BILLS

15 Appellant attempted to prove the existence and reason-16 ableness of his medical bills by offering evidence from the 17 Washington State Department of Labor and Industries indicating 18 that said Department had already paid all of appellant's 19 medical bills. The appellee objected and counsel stated as 20 follows:

21 "We will not object to bills that were charged 22 for services for Mr. Sowards being admitted 23 into evidence nor the reasonable value being 24 shown so long as there is no evidence admissible 25 to show who paid for them, particularly the Washington State Department of Labor and Industries, because that necessarily involves the matter of discretion with them as to whether they honor the claim or think there is in fact any injury or think the bill is reasonable. We are not trying to prevent this man from proving his damages or what the bills were." (Tr 402)

1 The objection to said testimony and said records was properly 2 sustained for the following reasons.

3 1. A showing that appellant's medical bills had been 4 paid by someone other than appellant would be inadmissible 5 without proof of a legal obligation.

6 2. A decision made by an administrative body would have 7 no probative value in court without laying a proper founda-8 tion.

9 3. There was no privity between the appellee and the 10 Washington State Department of Labor and Industries. The 11 general rule is that testimony and evidence given at a trial 12 cannot be used at a subsequent trial between different 13 parties not in privity with the parties to the former action.
14 Duffy v. Blake, 91 Wash. 140, 162 Pacific 521.

15 4. The fact that insurance is involved is entirely im-16 material in a court of law, and the wanton introduction of 17 such fact by the plaintiff is positive error, essentially 18 prejudicial to the defendant, and constitutes grounds for 19 reversal if plaintiff were victorious. William v. Hofer, 20 30 Wash. 2d 253 (1948); Moy Quon v. Furuya Company, 81 Wash.
21 526; Jensen v. Schlenz, 89 Wash. 268; Gianni v. Cerini, 100 22 Wash. 687; Lucchesi v. Reynolds, 125 Wash. 352.

23 The appellee did not object to appellant showing reason-24 able damages by the introduction of medical bills, and then 25 having a doctor testify as to the reasonableness of such bills.

1 Appellant could easily have had either Dr. Gardner or Dr.
2 Grossman, while they were on the stand, examine the bills and 3 testify as to their reasonableness. However, appellant 4 failed to elicit any testimony concerning medical bills from 5 either of his doctors.

6 Appellant's citation of Standard Oil Company v. United 7 States, 153 F2d 958 (9 Cir. 1946); and Rayfield v. Lawrence, 8 253 F2d 209 (4 Cir. 1958), does not give any weight to appell-9 ant's argument inasmuch as the appellee admits that appellant 10 is not barred from recovering damages merely because he also 11 recovered insurance proceeds. This ruling in no way changes 12 the requirement of proving damages by competent evidence.

13
14 IV.

15 THE DETERMINATION OF WHETHER A WITNESS 16 QUALIFIES AS AN EXPERT IS WITHIN THE 17 SOUND DISCRETION OF THE TRIAL COURT.

18 Appellant contends that the court erred in admitting the 19 testimony of Morris Fishman on ground that he lacked quali-20 fications as an expert. The law is well settled that the 21 qualifications of a witness to testify as an expert is a 22 matter within the discretion of the trial court. Bratt vs.
23 Western Airlines, 155 F2d 850 (10 Cir. 1946); Rogh v. Bird, 24 239 F2d 257 (5 Cir. 1956).

25 In Bratt, supra, the trial court sustained an objection to the opinion of an expert witness on ground that he was not

1 properly qualified to express an opinion. The opinion 2 sought was as to the cause of the crash of a DC-3 commercial 3 airplane. The witness was an aircraft mechanic who did not 4 have a commercial pilots license and who had not been certi-5 fied by the Civil Aeronautics Administration. However, he 6 had had extensive experience as a private pilot and had sub-7 stantial actual experience and training in aerodynamics.
8 The Appellate Court reversed the trial court, stating that 9 it had applied incorrect legal standards in refusing to 10 permit the testimony. The court stated at page 853:

11 "If actual experience cannot be the test in 12 cases of this kind, when then does a witness 13 become qualified to testify from special ex-14 perience concerning the scientific cause of an 15 accident not susceptible to direct proof. There 16 is no precise requirement as to the mode in which 17 requisite skill or experience shall have been 18 acquired. A witness may be competent to testify 19 as an expert although his knowledge was acquired 20 through the medium of practical experience rather 21 than scientific study and research."

22 In Firemens Fund Insurance Company v. Collins, 220 F2d
23 150 (5 Cir.1955) the court approved the admission of expert 24 testimony as to the effect upon a tractor-trailer of upsets 25 by a witness who was the president of a trailer company and 26 who was thoroughly familiar with the construction of trailer.

29 1958); Shipley v. Pittsburgh L.E.R. Company, 83 F.Supp. 722
30 (W.D.Penn. 1949); Allied Van Lines v. Parsons, 293 Pac. 2d 31 430 (Ariz. 1956).

2 THERE WAS A FAILURE OF PROOF BY APPELLANT 3 BOTH AS TO PROXIMATE CAUSE AND DAMAGES.

4 Plaintiff contends that the evidence does not support 5 the court's judgment in favor of the defendant, especially 6 in view of the fact that defendant admitted liability prior 7 to trial for all injuries proximately caused by the accident 8 on July 24, 1963. The following evidence supports the court's 9 finding that the plaintiff's injuries, if any, at time of 10 trial were not proximately caused by defendant's negligence 11 on July 24, 1963:

12 1. The fact that plaintiff was involved in two acci-13 dents prior to July 24, 1963, and one more serious accident 14 after, and on November 27, 1965, and plaintiff's inability 15 and failure to segregate damages, if any.

16 2. Dr. Fein's testimony that he could find no objective 17 findings to substantiate any physical impairment resulting 18 from the accident on July 24, 1963 (TR 457, 459, 480).

19 3. Dr. Gardner's testimony inferring the seriousness 20 of the November 27, 1965, accident and injuries (TR 335).
21 The following evidence would allow the trial court to dis-22 believe all testimony rendered by plaintiff himself:

23 1. Plaintiff's attempt, while being examined by 24 Dr. Fein, to impart false information as to his ability to 25 turn his head without pain (TR 456).

1 2. Plaintiff's ability to work the day following the 2 1963 injury, contrary to medical advice, and for some time 3 thereafter.

4 3. Testimony that plaintiff had never left subsequent 5 employment for reasons of health.

6 4. Plaintiff's attempt to have a Certified Public 7 Accountant falsify official record indicating dates on which 8 plaintiff was employed and had been paid (TR 508, 509).

10 SUMMARY

11 Plaintiff had a fair, impartial, and lengthy trial.
12 There is a failure of proof by plaintiff both as to proxi-13 mate cause and damages, and there is ample evidence to 14 support the court's judgment in favor of the defendant.
15 The defendant respectfully prays that said judgment be 16 affirmed.

17 Respectfully submitted,
